

This program will enable participants, colleagues and employees to take the necessary generic standard precautions and infection control measures to ensure that the risk to themselves and others are minimised within the domestic, social and workplace setting.

At the End of This Programme Participants will Know:

- The importance of Hand Washing, Standard Precautions and Infection Control to ensure that the risk to themselves and others is minimised
- About the Covid-19 virus, the control measures needed to break the chain of infection and how to stop the spread
- Know and understand social responsibility in the working environment
- Recognise the psychological effects of lockdown and how to be resilient to overcome this

ABOUT HC SKILLS INTERNATIONAL

WE are the only approved education centre delivering a range of externally validated, competence-based qualifications to the medical profession and healthcare industry that are internationally recognised.

COURSE FORMAT:

This credit rated (level 2) programme is delivered online with video presentations, questions and a practical assessment. The assessment is in two parts:

The first part examines your knowledge of Covid.

Part two of the assessment will be a practical assessment that will enable learners to provide the evidence of their competence

On successful completion of both assessments you will receive your competence certificate which is issued by Awarding body MQL. MQL are the first dedicated Awarding Organisation certifying credit rated qualifications in Health and Medical and Life-Sciences.
